

RoadPeace the national charity for road traffic victims

Tel/Fax 020 8838 5102/3

info@roadpeace.org

www.roadpeace.org

Please put the following piece in this week's paper, if possible:

17 November 2002 - Day of Remembrance and Hope for Road Traffic Victims

Invitation to Service of Remembrance at St James' Piccadilly, 2.30pm

All are welcome at the above service, dedicated to all those who have suffered bereavement or injury through a road crash, their families and friends and professionals involved in the aftermath, to offer support and recognition to this huge group of people.

Last year, more than 300 people were killed on London's roads and, using hospital data, 80,000 injured, adding thousands to an already enormous number of affected people. All road users are potential victims, yet most Londoners are not made aware of the scale and the danger to them.

Nationally, road victims will be remembered in 30 special services and schools and community groups and an internet memorial site will be launched in their memory on www.roadpeace.org/internet memorials/index.html

Contacts: Brigitte Chaudhry 020 8964 1800, Rita Taylor 01963 359 044